

Is your pet worth it?

When you think of buying a puppy, you think about the cost of the puppy, toys, bedding, vaccinations and food and it usually stops there. Unfortunately, with my staffy pup Toby, it didn't!

Between the age of 4-8 months Toby racked up $4,500 worth of vet bills (not including vaccinations/flea treatment/worming).

Toby has had infected gums on two occasions, a fractured growth plate in his back right leg requiring surgery and then more recently, after he ripped apart a floor mat, ended up with a piece caught in his intestine causing an obstruction and resulting in another very in-depth surgery.

All three incidents were not related and happened purely by accident (well, with a lot of help from Toby!). I can not stress enough the importance of pet insurance for these reasons. Sometimes it seems a lot to pay e.g. $40 a month at the time, but in the end it can end up saving you thousands! So when Dee and the team speak with you about pet insurance, it's not just a sales pitch, they are actually trying to help you! Please learn from my experience, take their advice!

Tegan from Coorparoo

Editors Note;

Pet insurance is a necessity, not a luxury. We have sourced the best pet insurance on the market today. and they in turn work hard to ensure that your pet is covered for all possibilities. To find out more information and to ensure your pet's protection and your pocket, visit us at click here